

Collective Bargaining

Our Labour Law Group is frequently called upon by our clients to assist them in collective bargaining, including drafting, reviewing and revising collective agreements. We also prepare bargaining proposals and collective agreement language for our clients.

We provide timely advice to our clients on the strategy and tactics of effective negotiation. We also represent clients in disputes arising out of the collective bargaining process, including matters ranging from complaints of bad faith bargaining to first contract arbitration proceedings. Members of the Koskie Minsky Labour Group are also requested, from time to time, to conduct and lead collective agreement negotiations for our clients.