

Were You Incarcerated in an Ontario Correctional Institution Between January 1, 2009 and September 18, 2018?

A lawsuit may affect you. Please read this carefully.

The Ontario Superior Court of Justice decided that a class action on behalf of people who were inmates in Ontario correctional institutions from January 1, 2009 to September 18, 2018 who were subjected to prolonged administrative segregation (15 or more consecutive days) or who were subjected to administrative segregation for any length of time and were diagnosed with a serious mental illness (with some exclusions) (the "Class") can proceed.

You have a choice of whether or not to stay in the Class.

To stay in the Class, you do not have to do anything. If money or benefits are obtained, you will be notified about how to make a claim. You will be legally bound by all orders and judgments, and you will not be able to sue Ontario about the legal claims in this case.

If you want to remove yourself from the class action, you must submit an opt out form by January 10, 2019. Opt out forms are available here: www.ontarioadministrativesegregation.ca. If you remove yourself, you cannot get money or benefits from this lawsuit if any are awarded.

The Court has appointed Koskie Minsky LLP ("Class Counsel") to represent the Class. You don't have to pay Class Counsel to participate. If they get money or benefits for the Class, they may ask for lawyers' fees and costs which would be deducted from any money obtained or paid separately by Ontario.
